For Immediate Release

There were ten cases of Covid-19 to report for Ketchikan today. Five of these cases were positive results from Monday that were reported after yesterday's press release had been completed. These additional five positive individuals take Monday's number of positive cases to a total of eleven (11). Of those eleven, one case was associated with travel, seven were found to be close contacts to known positive(s), and three were found to be community spread. One of the individuals identified on Monday has been hospitalized.

Five new cases of Covid-19 were reported from today's testing. Two of the cases were individuals who had sought testing at a local provider. One was symptomatic and one was asymptomatic. The source of their infection is under investigation. The other three positive cases were individuals who had met the criteria for drive up testing. Two were asymptomatic and one was symptomatic. The source of these infections are under investigation by Public Health.

These individuals have all been notified of the positive test result, have been directed to isolate, and are being monitored by healthcare providers. Public Health has begun the contact investigation and will be in touch with anyone who may have been in close contact with these individuals.

What if you were in contact with a known positive?

If you are being tested because of symptoms or a close contact:

- Keep at least 6 feet from people and animals, including those in your household.
- Avoid sharing personal household items, wash your hands and high touch surfaces regularly.
- Inform your work, (or your child's school) that you are awaiting results.

What if your result is negative?

- If you are a close contact to a person who is positive and you have tested negative, please follow the health department's instructions and remain quarantined, because you could still become positive.
